Around And About Town

The synagogue, mostly secular. Blessed are the peace makers, but where are they?

Job was afflicted with a flock of boils. He never had the flu, and that's something to be thankful for.

The idea of March also include the deadline on income tax reports. The ancient Roman calendar came a long ways down the corridors of time to find a congressman. Congress makes the laws.

Some fellows who give money to churches never go to see where they spent it. But they wouldn't want to get along without 'em.

Inglewood's getting a race track. When does the grocer get a run for his money?

Everything can't be right. That would be heaven, and a lot of us are not ready for it.

Let o' fellows are willing to drift into the richer things of life. For example: The Huntington Beach tide land drilling.

Well, the Sunrise edition of The Journal at least got court recognition, as well as a lot of favorable comment and advertising patronage.

Market quotation: Wool moving south with nobody in it.

"Blessed are ye, when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely. . . . Prelude to the coming campaign.

A girl in a bathing suit can attract more attention than a girl in a formal. If "clothes make the man," by the same token they help get an audience for the woman.

Lot of folk haven't found out that home is more than a place to hang pictures and their hats.

So many people never resolve to drive carefully after they've been in a wreck.

I'm looking for relief, but it's from the flu.

"Another lesson we learned from the depression is that a tire isn't the only thing you can patch."

Some people are trying to find out how to make business better. Well, if we would all pay our debts that would help.

Woman Dies in Mystery Drowning

BODY FOUND FLOATING OFF NEWPORT

Officers Trying to Make Identification

Floating off-shore between Newport and Huntington Beach, the body of an unidentified middle-aged woman was recovered shortly after 8 o'clock this morning, apparently less than four hours after she had been drowned.

John Foster, an employee of the county health department, saw the body floating in the ocean, rowed out and recovered it. The woman had not been identified by early this afternoon.

She was described by Deputy Sheriff A. W. Fullerton, who conducted a preliminary investigation, as about 45 years of age, five feet five inches in height, and weighing 150 pounds. She had blue eyes, long hair, a gold dental bridgework, and she wore a flowered silk dress but had no jewelry.

No one answering the woman's description had been seen along the beach this morning, officers learned, but they believed she either fell or jumped into the water from some nearby pier, since no off-shore boat accidents were reported.

The body was taken to Dixon funeral parlor in Huntington Beach.

DENY VISIT BY MRS. CAPONE

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—James A. Johnston, warden of Alcatraz federal prison, denied reports that Mrs. Al Capone had visited her husband since Capone was placed in the island prison hospital ward because of a mental illness.

"I will not disclose it, when and if Mrs. Capone does visit her husband, but I can say she has not visited him since he was placed in the hospital," the warden said.

The warden's statement was made in connection with a report that Mrs. Capone arrived from the family home in Florida and saw her husband at the prison Wednesday.

Warden Johnston said she had not been identified officially of the illness of her husband, and that officials had received no word from her.

Ex-Supervisors At Birthday Fete

Two former Orange county supervisors, Tom Talbert of Huntington Beach and William Schumacher of Buena Park, were the honored guests last night at a birthday party arranged by Mrs. Talbert. Talbert is also ex-mayor of Huntington Beach.

The party motored to Los Angeles where they attended an entertainment. Guests at the affair included Mr. and Mrs. Talbert, Mr. and Mrs. Schumacher, and their daughter Mary Lou Assistant Postmaster and Mrs. Flake Smith of Santa Ana, and Mr. and Mrs. Van Crumm of Compton.

Bookies Battle As Tip Goes Out To Close Shops

RFC TO BE REVIVED BY NEW ORDER

Non-Inflation Policy Stressed in Action

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The administration made $1,500,000,000 available to business today for employment-producing loans as a part of its easy credit, non-inflationary recovery policy.

This sum was offered to industry when President Roosevelt instructed the Reconstruction Finance corporation to resume business lending. Except for a few railroad loans, the RFC had ceased lending last October.

While Chairman Jesse H. Jones said the RFC had $1,500,000,000 available, he predicted only "a few hundred millions" would be lent.

Meanwhile, the 12 Federal Reserve banks called business attention to their continued ability to make direct loans to industry. They also pointed out that the lending excess reserves in the nation's commercial banks totaled $1,360,000,000.

While President Roosevelt in discussing economic policy at a press conference policy at a great length on his desire for a "balanced" price structure, some observers held that of more importance to business than his assurance that he was not planning to inflate or revalue the dollar.

Those of this view said his statement amounted to saying the administration would continue its present course using only such mild recovery levers as easy credit, the farm act, the RFC, and relief.

REBELS CIRCLE TERUEL CITY

HENDAYE, France. At the Spanish Frontier. (AP)—The Spanish insurgents officially announced today they had encircled Teruel in their new South Aragon offensive.

Two thousand government troops garrisoning the provincial capital city were fighting to defend it.

The insurgents said they had "intimations" from the garrison, however, that they would like to discuss terms for surrender of Teruel.

General Francisco Franco's offensive, striking east and south-east from the Alfabra river valley north of Teruel, gained several miles of mountain territory before the action centered on Teruel.

Land Lands Job

Rear Admiral Emory S. Land, today was named by President Roosevelt to succeed Joseph P. Kennedy as chairman of the maritime commission. Kennedy has been appointed ambassador to Great Britain.

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Rear Admiral Emory S. Land, a Colorado-born sailor and aviator, took over today the task of revitalizing America's merchant marine.

President Roosevelt, who described the assignment as a "head-ache," appointed Land to succeed Joseph P. Kennedy as chairman of the maritime commission. He accepted yesterday the resignation of Kennedy who will go to London as ambassador.

The new chairman, 59-year-old retired chief of the navy's bureau of construction, has been a member of the commission since last April. As such, he has helped wrestle with maritime subsidies, labor troubles, high construction bids and other difficulties encountered in the attempt to build up the nation's foreign trade.

To fill out Kennedy's unexpired term on the commission, Mr. Roosevelt appointed Max O'Rell, a St. Louis, now commission counsel. Aides said it was a temporary appointment, pending the selection of a representative of the west coast.

War on Hog Food Flares Again

Hog ranchers and the county squared off today for another round in their super-battle over the hogs' diet.

"We are going to enforce the ordinance," said Asst. Dist. Atty. Preston Turner, as an amendment to one of the supervisors' battered laws went into effect.

The ordinance bars importation of garbage from other counties, which constitutes the principal diet of swine at the L. and N. Feeding company's big Talbert ranch and also is brought in for smaller hog ranches.

Turner said he and Dist. Atty. W. F. Menton were making arrangements to enforce the law, which became operative this week after the six months' wait provided for when the ordinance was amended last fall.

The law, one of a series which has been under fire by the hog ranchers, was thrown out because of its licensing clause by the Fourth district court of appeal last year in a test case brought by the arrest of a hog ranch employee under the court's opinion in granting a writ of habeas corpus and became effective Thursday in its revised form.

Another test case loomed as the district attorney's office prepared to enforce the ordinance, with hog ranchers determined on a court opinion concerning validity of the law.

FORECAST FOR FAIR AFTER DOWNPOUR

Santa Ana Gets .19 Inches Rain

"That's all for this week-end, folks!" Dewpoint the Duck made a belated appearance this morning, quacking with pleasure over yesterday's delightful down-pour, which brought from .05 to .53 of an inch over the county.

Santa Ana smiled through its tears to the tune of 19 of an inch, most of which fell during the night, and raised season gauges to 7.39—a normal year.

RELIEF ROLL BOOST ASKED

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Senator Bone (D., Wash.) said today he would ask the senate to increase the $250,000,000 supplementary relief appropriation, possibly to $400,000,000.

Bone said he was studying all available data on relief needs. He added:

"From what I know of the situation now, it appears that the $250,000,000 appropriation will be entirely inadequate to take care of the unemployed until July 1."

The emergency appropriation would supplement what is left of the $1,500,000,000 appropriated for this year, and keep about 2,000,000 persons on WPA rolls.

Senator Frazier (R., N. D.) said he would support a move to increase the total, but Senator Schwelb (D., Wash.) indicated he believed there was little chance of boosting the amount.

Administration leaders said they believed the amount asked by the house, in approving the requested amount Wednesday by a 352-23 vote, easily defeated a motion to raise it to $400,000,000.

PUBLISHER HONORED BAKERSFIELD. (AP)—More than 400 persons paid tribute at a banquet here last night to Alfred Harrell, publisher of the Bakersfield Californian. Harrell was extolled for his civic interest and community leadership over a period of 40 years.

BLAME RANCH IN PIPE DEATH

The Sunny Hills ranch company of Fullerton today was blamed for negligent in failing to provide death Thursday afternoon of Albert Scott 21-year-old Placentia youth, when he lowered himself into a water-well casing to retrieve a quarter-inch pipe which had fallen.

Holding the ranch company was negligent in failing to provide proper safety equipment for its employees, a coroner's jury agreed the death was caused by an unknown gas, and not by suffocation from lack of air as originally believed.

Woman Robbed While in Church

CHICAGO. (AP)—Miss Hazel Keane told police today she was robbed while praying in church. She and several hundred other worshippers were on their knees when the purse containing $70 and three diamond rings she valued at $525 disappeared last night, Miss Keane said.

YEAR'S TOLL OF TRAFFIC MOUNTS TO 17

Injured Boy Dies On Way to Hospital

A 16-year-old boy died and five other persons, including an elderly Laguna Beach woman, were severely injured in a resounding auto smash that awakened La Habra people for several blocks at 7 a. m. today.

Robert Nelson Grant, 16, 8975 Hildreth street, South Gate, died en route to the hospital of injuries received when a car killed.

Grant's death was the 17th in Orange county traffic this year. His brother and three other companions riding in the same car sustained serious but not critical injuries, as did Miss De Berard.

The toll of injuries: Ernest Wells, 20, Los Angeles, knee injury, shock and stomach injury. Ray Stoddard, 16, South Gate, broken arm.

Dallas Boucher, 20, Los Angeles, severe back injury. Miss De Berard, lacerated leg, broken wrist and sprained ankle. Howard Grant, cuts and bruises.

The Grant car, traveling east on Central avenue, assertedly failed to make a boulevard stop, witnesses told California Highway Patrolman H. E. Inge, who investigated.

WHITNALL WEDS AGAIN

Gordon Whitnall, recently engaged by the Santa Ana city council as planning consultant for this community, and widely known in Los Angeles political circles, recently was quietly married at a ceremony conducted by Rev. Walter F. Baxter of Whittier in the Los Angeles Biltmore hotel.

His bride is the former Mrs. Grace Brysis N. Hodges. Whitnall's second wife, Mrs. Mary S. Whitnall, won a divorce from him a year ago on grounds of desertion, according to a report from Los Angeles. The final decree was entered Jan. 31.

On Feb. 8, Whitnall and Mrs. Hodges filed notice of intention to wed, but did not take out their license until their wedding day last Monday. She gave her occupation as secretary.

It was Whitnall's third appearance before the altar, he having been divorced twice. For Mrs. Hodges, it was the second marital venture. She was a divorcee.

'Extra'—Congress Decides to Get Down to Work

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Congressional leaders, determined to make this a short, productive session, concentrated today on hastening action on President Roosevelt's legislative program.

The leaders and most members were hopeful of adjournment early in May. Many of the law-makers were anxious to get back home and look after their election-year political interests.

The faster tempo of congress the last week heartened leaders. Action was completed on one major bill, the new agricultural adjustment measure, and several others moved substantially nearer enactment.

45 Die in Jap Avalanches

TOKYO. (AP)—Forty-five persons were dead on Sagami Island today because of snow avalanches. The latest thundering slide buried 11 fishermen's houses. Forty-nine persons were trapped under the snow but rescuers saved all but 13. Previous slides had caused 32 deaths. A blizzard was raging on the island, north of Japan.

L. A. Police Trio Indicted for Ramond Bomb Plot

ONE CHARGE CALLS FOR DEATH COUNT

Kynette, Aides, Held In Jail Without Bail

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—A trio of suspended police officers were under indictment today to charge they tried to murder Harry Raymond, private sleuth, with a bomb.

The men, Earle Kynette, ex-acting captain of the Los Angeles police intelligence unit, and two of his aides, Fred A. Browne and Roy J. Allen, were booked in the county jail without bail.

The county grand jury late yesterday indicted them on charges of conspiracy to commit murder, attempted murder, assault with intent to commit murder and malicious use of explosives.

The first count carries the death penalty.

Superior Judge Clarence Kincaid set next Wednesday as a date for their arraignment.

The jury recommended that the defendants be held without bail. Counsel for the accused men will argue in court Monday for freedom of their clients.

Return of the indictment climaxed a heated jury session during which Kynette and other police officers refused to testify.

HOUSE REJECTED

The jury charged that last September Kynette ordered rented a house near the residence of Raymond. Thereafter, the true bill alleged, members of his "spy squad" occupied the house and closely observed the movements of Raymond.

Last Jan. 14, Raymond was seriously wounded when he stepped on the starter of his automobile, causing explosion of a bomb secreted in the machine.

The episode was the impelling factor in the current assembly investigation of vice and corruption in Los Angeles. Raymond was a witness in the court attempt of a political worker to collect money from a former police commissioner. He had also done investigating work for an anti-vice group.

BOOKIES ROW AS TIP GIVEN

hall after a hard Saturday night, after a "tip" mind you, from "somewhere around the courthouse."

Back of the tip lies the tale—and the tale has to do with that misplaced fin the big-town boys offered for customers.

The work-sheet process violated most of the principles of the local law enforcement agencies, and of the local bookmakers. But they might have gotten away with it if they hadn't started tampering with the price.

But word came this gang was none too persnickety about its pay-offs; that it had been run out of Catalina not so long ago.

And somebody whispered to somebody else, and yesterday phones began ringing in various horse parlors, and today odd-odds row is just a country lane.

But they do say that those who foolishly spend their money for new shoes over the week-end are just so many zaps, because next Tuesday they'll be able to lay it on Susie Q's nose instead, at the same old 15-1 tops.

Authorities, tips or no tips, are "surprised" about the whole thing. Typical comment: "Even if I were planning a raid, I wouldn't tell anyone till it happened."—Sheriff Jackson.

But just the same the tip is out, and the heat is on, and the status is quo—for the second time in the past fortnight. Two days silence last week resulted in a truce, but this is the real McCoy.

Life In These U. S.

Man Sues Charwoman Wife For Support; Aged Man Dislikes City Life

PITTSBURGH.—Leo M. Gorins, 42, and unemployed, filed suit for support against his wife, a charwoman earning $16 a week for sweeping out downtown offices. He said public relief agencies had refused to aid him.

"I don't like to do this, but if it is the only way I can get relief I suppose I'll have to," Gorins said.

WANTS TO BE ALONE

SAN FRANCISCO.—Andy Reese, 68, has left home to go down town once in 35 years and says he hopes he doesn't have to make the trip for another 35.

A friend and three policemen convinced him he should go the four miles downtown to apply for an old age pension. But he didn't like it.

"Too much noise," he said. "Living alone is the only way a person can expect to be healthy or live to a ripe old age."

peace." But that was small comfort to anxious statesmen.

That he might state more precisely tomorrow his intentions in Czechoslovakia, where live some 3,000,000 pro-Nazi, close to the border of Nazi Germany.

The propaganda ministry persuaded the official Czechoslovakian broadcasting company to carry the Recharging speech throughout the Czech republic.

Many in political circles felt certain Hitler would demand autonomy for south Germans, and the willingness to broadcast the speech was taken as an indication Czech Premier Hodza was willing to pay the price of autonomy to Germans in Czechoslovakia for peace with a powerful neighbor.

VIENNA. (AP)—The Austrian government announced today it had fulfilled all Chancellor Schuschnigg's pledges to Germany. He had been opening to Austrian Nazis membership in the fatherland front, the nation's only legal party.

Austria waits now for Hitler to declare in his reichstag speech Sunday that he will respect Austria's independence, and that Germany will keep her share of the Schuschnigg-Hitler bargain for Austro-German cooperation.

"We have done our part, now it is your turn," is the Austrian view.

VENTURA PAIR HUNTED IN SEA

VENTURA. (AP)—Authorities searched today for the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Dukich of (1008 Linden avenue) Carpinteria, who were drowned in the Pacific ocean near a pier in the Sea Cliff oil fields yesterday.

Sheriff Howard Durely of Ventura county reported Mrs. Dukich drove her automobile to the end of the General Petroleum pier last night to meet her husband, a worker at the end well on the pier.

As her husband watched, the automobile plunged off the pier into the ocean. Screaming for help, he jumped into the water in a rescue attempt, and was not seen again. The sheriff said he believed Mrs. Dukich was blinded by the heavy rain falling at the time.

FARM LEADER ENDORSES PACT

DES MOINES, Ia. (AP)—Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau federation, asserted today the proposed reciprocal trade agreement with the United Kingdom offers a "real test" whether industry is going to take a purely selfish attitude.

"The proposed agreement," O'Neal said in an address prepared for the national farm institute, "offers the largest opportunity yet presented to secure concessions for our agricultural exports in the largest potential market, in return for concessions to the United Kingdom on her industrial products."

There should be a fair relationship between the duties on agricultural products and those on industrial products, the farm bureau president declared.

KATELLA FARM GROUP HAS PROGRAM

Approximately 150 members and friends of the Katella Farmers 4-H club attended a program sponsored by the organization last night in the Katella school.

G. A. Wollemman as master of ceremonies introduced Ross E. Crane, assistant farm advisor. Crane complimented the club leader, A. C. Sutliff, on the club's accomplishments and presented the group with a $25 prize which the organization won at the San Diego county fair.

John Hastings, a senior member of the club, talked and Bud Hein was the principal character in a skit, assisted by Joe Wollemman and Bob Kettler. The Hamilton band furnished musical numbers and dances were presented by members of Miss Grace Taylor's school of dancing, and Miss Joy Elder's pupils of Anaheim played several accordion numbers.

Persons taking part in the program were Jacqueline Cane, Joanne Ter Best, Shirley Essary, Philip Hastings, Doris Faulkner, Ruth Davis, Donna Muckenthaler, Marilyn Straub, Jacqueline Pool, Ruth Thatcher, Janet Taylor, George Taylor, Roy Granger, Maryline Hargrove, Vivian Hughes, Glennadeen Sutliff, Rae McCamish, Ruth Ellen Taylor, Gertrude Harrow, Wilber Kammerle, Edna Roberts, Shirley Essary, Doris Essary, Shirley Paiso, Gertrude Hunt, Ann Hamilton, Dorothy Brush.

mente, which barely got in on the fun, with .05 of an inch. On an average, the north end of the county got the most benefit from things.

The official weather forecasts bore out Dewpoint's prediction, calling for clearing weather and frosts for most of California.

The weather bureau, however, saw frequent rains or snow in the Pacific Northwest extending into Central California, and ultimately Southern California, by the middle of next week—to add to more than two weeks of continued storms broken only by brief sunshine Wednesday and Thursday.

Other parts of the nation did not fare so well.

In Dallas, Tex., sub-freezing weather, which had halted rainfall and a atmosphere disturbances, brought misery today to hundreds of Texas families driven from their homes by flood waters.

Along the Trinity river at Dallas dozens of families, fleeing from river-bottom homes, huddled on hillsides while the Red Cross rushed supplies. Rescue workers battled stiff currents to take the refugees to higher ground.

On a death was attributed to the overflow. A cowhand listed as Buddy Ramsey drowned while rounding up cattle in the lowlands near Carrollton.

The Northeast Texas fruit crop was viewed as lost when severe cold followed unseasonably warm weather which brought trees into full blossom.

In the Midwest a snowstorm accompanied by fresh northeast winds whipped across the country into Chicago, slowing traffic and upping airline schedules.

Forecasters C. A. Donnell said the snow covered most of a Missouri, Southeastern Iowa and Illinois, but that heavy fall during the past 24 hours in Kansas had stopped.

Train Schedule Ruins Her Medal Chances in Wreck

Leland Finley, vice-president of a local insurance company, was cast in a new role today.

Only a train schedule kept him from qualifying for a Carnegie medal.

When he found a giant oil truck off the highway, its tank across the Santa Fe tracks at Seventeenth street, Finley immediately envisioned disaster, rushed to the phone and called police. The truck was removed 10 minutes later, in time to avert a crash.

But police announced today that no train was due just then anyway, and Finley lost his chance for fame.

U. S. Airmen Are Lauded for Hop

BUENOS AIRES. (AP)—Officers of the United States good will squadron, rested from their 5200 mile one-stop flight from Miami, Fla., to Buenos Aires, were congratulated today by the Argentine war minister, General Basilio Perone.

They were accompanied on a visit to the war minister by American Ambassador Alexander W. Weddell and his military attaché, Lieut. Col. Lester Baker.

Lieut. Col. Robert Olds commanded the "flying fortresses" on their trip here to take part in an aerial demonstration tomorrow when President-Elect Roberto M. Ortiz will be inaugurated.

County Shudders As Jail Site Wanders Again

Oops! That jail's loose again. Orange county, which fought tooth and nail two years ago to keep the state's new Southern California penitentiary from being planted at Costa Mesa, bristled its back again today.

The $4,000,000 penal institution, slated to be built at Chino after Orange county turned it down rather flatly probably will be erected elsewhere. Prolonged delay in setting a price for the Chino property has caused members of the state prison site commission to renew the search for another site.

Judge T. N. Harvey of Bakersfield, chairman of the state prison board and member of the site commission, said today that while the Chino site is still technically under consideration, there is a definite possibility that another site will be chosen.

Where, Judge?

He indicated he feared his rights to the invention would not be protected.

INDIA URGED TO PREPARE FOR FREEDOM

HARIPURA, India. (AP)—Rumblings of a new civil disobedience campaign to achieve independence from Great Britain were heard today.

Subhas Chandra Bose, radical nationalist and right hand man to Mohandas K. Gandhi, opened the 51st session of the Indian congress party with a warning to prepare for such a campaign.

Bose, who views Gandhi's views, attacked the Indian federation and declared:

"We have to fight the federation by all legitimate, peaceful means—not only along constitutional lines—and, in the last resort, we may have to resort to mass civil disobedience."

PHILADELPHIA. (AP)—Mary Keenan O'Connor, cleared of the puddle killing of five-year-old Nancy Glenn, said today she would "probably go back to school."

The 19-year-old husky blonde, called "Tarzan" by many of her friends, was a physical education student in a physical education course at the time of her arrest last fall for the death of the child.

She was acquitted yesterday of charges of murder, voluntary manslaughter and involuntary manslaughter.

She is very pleased and happy that the jury believed what I said and acquitted me, as, of course, I told the truth," she said, smiling.

STAR CLAIMS FALSE RITES

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—For almost 10 years, Vera Reynolds, star of the silent screen, she lived with a man she erroneously thought was her husband.

Miss Reynolds so reputed in court through her counsel yesterday in connection with the snarl of suits she and Robert Ellis Reel, screen writer, have entwined about each other.

Bailiff's Wife Dies in Hospital

Mrs. R. M. Conkey, wife of Dep. Sheriff Robert Conkey, died early today in the Fullerton hospital following an operation performed Thursday.

Mrs. Conkey had been reported improved yesterday, but succumbed shortly after midnight. Conkey, former newspaperman and former secretary of the Central Labor council, is bailiff in Superior Judge H. G. Ames' court.

NEW AERIAL BOMB TEST SUGGESTED

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Chairman Vinson (D., Ga.) of the house naval committee today suggested using part of a $15,000,000 experimental fund to test a mysterious new "aerial bomb" which the inventor said would revolutionize this country's defenses.

Vinson referred to a device which Lester P. Barlow, Stamford, Conn., inventor, said yesterday would force drastic alteration of the proposed $1,000,000,000 naval expansion program.

Barlow said the new bombs, dropped from tremendous heights, could "blanket" an area 10 miles square in three or four minutes and cripple even battleships by destroying the auxiliary ships which supply and augment the large war vessels.

Barlow told the committee he would not be satisfied with Vinson's proposal because he "would not even dare put my ideas in the patent office."

He indicated he feared his rights to the invention would not be protected.

MAN, 60, SAYS HE KILLED GUIDE

GUNNISON, Colo. (AP)—The volunteered confession in Detroit of a 60-year-old man, Sheriff Ed Lindsay said today, may solve the ambush slaying of a deer hunting guide near here 25 years ago.

Sheriff Lindsay said he would leave immediately for Detroit to take into custody Edward J. Melford, who Detroit police said confessed slaying Howard Carpenter near Gunnison Oct. 1, 1912.

Detroit police said Melford told them he had changed his name legally from Edward J. Melstrup, by which he was known here.

Mrs. J. R. Jennings, wife of a rancher living near Gunnison, told the sheriff last night she had been married to an Edward J. Melstrup and divorced him in 1912, Sheriff Lindsay said.

Mrs. Jennings stated she did not know Carpenter, the slaying victim, the sheriff said.

HOT MUSIC FOR MILITARY BALL

Dancers at the tenth annual Military ball Monday night will be afforded the double pleasure of dancing to the music of Billy McDonald and his Royal Highlanders band, and hearing the vocal swing of Judy Randall, Chairman Harry S. Pickard said today.

McDonald wired today that he had secured the services of blonde Judy Randall. She has worked with some of the county's best orchestras, including three years with Henry Busse, and two years with Jan Garber, appearing with him last year at Catalina island.

The Highlanders boast an impressive group of vocalists and entertainers on their regular roster. Festivities Monday will start at 9 p. m. with the appearance of the uniformed drum and bugle corps of the Santa Ana and American Legion posts.

The guard of honor will be furnished by Company L, national guard, under command of Capt. R. P. Kellogg.

BOYS PAROLED TO BREA LIONS

The Lions club of Brea today became sponsor for two youths given probation on burglary charges by Presiding Superior Judge James L. Allen, who classed Brea as the "white spot of Orange county."

Judge Allen granted probation to Robert E. Elliott, 19, and Robert W. Easton, 20, who admitted burglaries at a South Main service station and an Olinda service station Jan. 22. Edward H. Peterson will be sponsor for Easton and Dr. William H. Curtis for Elliott, although the entire club will act on the committee.

"Today Brea is the white spot of Orange county," said the judge in congratulating the club. "Many boys would be saved if these service clubs would take an interest in them."

Osteopaths Hear Food Lecture

Approximately 25 Orange county osteopathic physicians and surgeons heard talks dealing with the topic of food allergy Thursday evening at Buena Park presented by three Los Angeles authorities.

Olive Heights Growers Get $613,412 for Harvest

195,097-BOX TOTAL TOLD AT MEETING

Manager Hughes Reports $3.14 Average

OLIVE.—Grower members of the Olive Heights Citrus association received $613,412 for their past season's harvest. Secretary Manager A. E. Hughes reported at the annual meeting of the association this morning.

Total returns to the packing house were $737,595, Hughes said, adding that a packed-box average of $3.1441 was realized from 195,097 boxes of fruit. The field box average was $1.97.

Returns from the 1937 crop exceeded those of 1936 by $189,125, Hughes said, while labor and materials received $186,924 from the total.

Shipments for the year were 2.8 per cent greater than the previous season, but returns amounted to 33.2 per cent more, he added, explaining, however, that grower expenses were far greater, cutting returns to individuals.

Use of fluoroscope machines in separating frozen fruit was lauded by the manager, who said that cullage totaled 36 per cent of the entire crop. The new separation method enabled the packing house to salvage more than 50 per cent more fruit than the water system, he added.

Laguna School Officers Named

LAGUNA BEACH.—After a stiff political battle, officers for the high school science class at San Juan Capistrano Union High school when a boy, Norman Adair, won first prize for having made and baked the best loaf of bread.

All the girls and a few of the boys participated in the contest but when the judges passed on the results the award was given to Adair with second place going to Carlos Romer.

The girls are now doing a little practicing at home with the avowed intention of taking the honors in the next contest.

Phooey! Who said anything about fishing or the harbor or swimming, anyway? In fact, who'd want to sail or paddle, these weather? However, in spite of blusters and spatters, things still are moving around the harbor district. Rain doesn't mean a thing to a guy who's making money catching fish, or who's working on his boat. Or telling stories.

In spite of the unfavorable weather, we'll look things over a bit. At least, we can talk about people and boats and clams and sharks. Yeah, and maybe even seals. Here we go!

First, let's look at the commercial fishers.

Those guys have been doing swell lately. One day this week, so the guys along the waterfront say, the fishermen caught so many sardines they all could not be handled at Newport and several boatloads were taken to Pedro.

Sardines, mostly. Tuesday, they claim, 300,000 pounds of the little fish were caught. Harbor commercial fishermen earned $4000 that one day. Which isn't so bad, for the dead of winter!

Five boats, according to reports, caught 60 tons of sardines. By counting on the editorial fingers, that seems to equal somewhere in the neighborhood of 12 tons to the boat. With the price around $13 per ton, that makes—let's see. Two times three—plus eight—well, it should be $156 to the boat. Which isn't bad for a day's wages.

Mackerel for the canneries still have been pretty good, too. Boats bringing in from one to two tons. That isn't bad either, at $21 per ton.

But, my shivering friends, don't think it's easy money! Cold and wet work. Long, long hours. Lot's of expenses and the possibility of being dunked in pretty deep water any time. 'No fun!'

Take when the commercial guys were running clear to Oceanside for their mackerel, for instance. Leave about 1 o'clock in the morning to get to the fishing grounds in time for work. Then the hard day's battle to get a load of fish. Then a long trek home, arriving about 9 p. m. Then unload fish, clean up the boat, get gassed up, and it's about time to start out again.

When do they sleep? Dunno. Ask 'em!

Now, for a peek at the clam situation. Uncle Sam Meyer, in his noons-parade, gets excited about a "new" law concerning capture and imprisonment of so-called razor clams. He screams about the law, which is suddenly being enforced.

That law has been on the books for many years. When I get a chance to look it up, I think we'll find it's been at least 10. Oke. Then why the sudden interest in the fish and game guys in enforcing it this year?

They've gotta have something to do this time of year, don't they? You know, times are slack for things to enforce this season. Give 'em a month or so—and who wants many clams right now anyway?—and they'll be worrying about fishing licenses and limits and shooting and all sorts of stuff. Then, I predict, the clams'll be forgotten.

Not that there isn't a legitimate squawk about such a limit. We all should scream to the high heavens about it. Or to our assemblyman, Clyde Watson of Orange, and Senator Harry Westover.

The suddenly-discovered statute makes it unlawful to possess more than 30 clams. Which would work a great hardship on surf fishermen. They'd be worn out rushing to the bait stands, which, I suppose, wouldn't be allowed to possess any more clams.

Perhaps it wouldn't be a bad idea to scan the lawbooks and find out how many other such screwy ideas are incorporated in our state's shall-nots, and get 'em repealed or overhauled before they pop out of the closets to scare us.

Along the same lines, the state fish and game commission is starting to build another boat, like the "Yellowtail" stationed at Newport. This'n, to be named "Tuna," will take over patrol of the closed waters around Catalina, allowing the local one to work as far south as Oceanside. The new'n'll be about 45 feet in length, 10-foot beam, with twin Hall-Scotts. Lovely boats—when it's wet.

Steve Smith and Jack Reis and some of the other talkers-about things were discussing striped bass the other day.

Steve remembered when they made two plantings in upper Newport bay. About 3000 fish planted each time.

People're still wondering if the strippers are around, remembering great sport in the Frisco country along about this time.

People're in between selling hawsters and things, recalled hooking one huge stripper while trolling in that upper bay district. From his description, it must've been more'n three feet long. They claim some still are around, and some of the guys have been talking up a ceiling

Are the boat builders busy, or are they busy?

Peek, for instance, at the South Coast. Already they've built 12 new'n's, of new types they will introduce this summer. Snappy sailers, all Western Boat company is putting out a honey of a stock sport fisherman, accommodating two persons and about the last word in everything.

Pacific Boat company is about finished with a beautiful 35-foot sloop being constructed for Dr. Kenneth R. Coulson of Santa Ana. She'll have Gray 4-cylinder auxiliary and will sleep four.

Seen as it's still raining, we'd better quit, and wait for better weather. And, if anyone happened to see a little item in the Newport paper, authored probably by Willard Minor, concerning the Gaines navy, it was wrong. He hinted I was installing some Diesel power in the flagship.

He's wrong. I'm shopping for a pair of oars!

Dr. Mason Plans New Building

expedition to make sure. Good idea?

Reports of some yellowfin caught in the surf on clams (legal ones) and mussels. One report also hinted they might be Tomcod, but one never can tell, can one?

Also, reports of two big Jewfish caught off'n Star of Hollywood, the poor old gambler's ship.

Awfully interesting talk with a commercial seal hunter, who's just back from Mexican trip.

His tales of seal roundups and the subsequent slaughter of the quealing creatures was interesting, if not appetizing. The skins are shipped east and are used mostly for purses and belts'n such. Oil is sold for 40 cents a gallon. There's a duty on the skins, but not the oil.

But the most interesting part of the talk was about sharks.

The lower Mexican coast, said the story-teller, is the stomping grounds for most of the sharks in this part of the world. And, he claimed, no one's never been attacked by a shark.

Mexicans, whom the seal hunters hire to aid their work, are absolutely unafraid of 'em. Just to show off, they'll jump right into a school of the big alleged man-eaters. The fish swim with many a mouthful of human flesh.

The swimming beaches in Mexico, he added, are about half and half divided between fenced areas and unfenced. Timid souls go bathing in the protected places, so a big, nasty shark won't chew off an arm or leg, while braver souls splash unprotected. About as many folks swim out in the open, which means, he said, the sharks can't be so awfully dangerous.

Folk's'll be surprised, soon, to see the "Scout." That former fast deep-sea boat owned by Smith Brothers and extensively used for salvage work, has been sold to Harry Myers of Huntington Park. Now they're overhauling the engine, putting on new paint and a new house. It'll be used this summer as a commercial boat, Frank Smith says.

Harbormaster Tommy Bouchey's speedster is getting some engine work done.

Tommy, incidentally, recently gave out a broad hint about dropping a line in the water, and intimated this department might be able to go along. Hope he doesn't forget it!

Peterson, Mrs. Ray McCormick, and Mrs. W. A. Allen.

The March meeting of the board will be held at the home of Mrs. Marion Spear and will also feature a covered fish luncheon at noon.

Reisner Finishes Second Book

LAGUNA BEACH.—Charles (Chuck) Reisner, movie director and writer, has just submitted his second juvenile book to the publishers. It is entitled, "Inch High People in Grown-up Land" and gives the illustrator more of a little character.

His first book, "Inch High People," is fast becoming one of the best of juvenile books on the market.

Rites Held for Lucius B. Cannon

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Funeral services were conducted Thursday afternoon from Dixon's chapel for Lucius Booth Cannon, 82, who died in the home of his daughter, Mrs. Mary C. Goodman, 423 Ninth street.

Surviving are a wife, Mary Cannon, a daughter, Mrs. Mary G. Goodman, and a son, Dr. Frank Mullen Cannon of San Rafael.

Webster, who was a retired naval officer, is survived by several nieces and nephews in Southern California, one of whom is Mitzi Rountree, noted landscape artist of Costa Mesa.

The Rev. William F. Hessel, of Christ Church by the Sea, officiated at the services. Masonic rites being observed at the grave. Interment was made at San Gabriel cemetery.

WESTMINSTER.—Mrs. Eunice Davies has been appointed to fill the vacancy left on the Westminster Grammar school board of trustees caused by the death of her husband, Stanley E. Davies, according to an announcement made today by County Superintendent of schools, Ray Adkinson. She will assume her duties at once and will complete the remaining one and one-half years of her husband's unexpired term.

Basketball fans were still discussing today one of the lowest scoring games in the county's history — that 10 to 8 victory scored over Orange in a C. I. F. championship game last night.

The score would indicate that neither club had an offense, but such was not the case. Both teams worked the ball smoothly into enemy territory, but their defenses were so stubborn that set-ups were few and far between. Every shot from close range was rushed.

That transfer from San Juan Capistrano, Harold Lilley, certainly proved a boon to Tustin on defense. A junior, he should be one of the sweetest guards in the Orange league next year. Undisputed hero of the game was Larry Monroe, who caged 6 of Tustin's 10 points and shot the winning basket. Among the 1200 excited fans were two of the finest players ever to represent the rivals on the court—Henry Thiers of Tustin and Bill Kolhorst of Orange, both of whom starred at Santa Ana Jaycee following graduation.

The Black Dragon, unmasked recently as Paul Buzzell, is a friend of Marvin Hulsey of Santa Ana, who used to work out with the mat villain back in Oklahoma. Hulsey renewed his acquaintance at Thursday night's 101 arena program. "That guy appears plenty tough in the ring, but actually he's one of the easiest fellows to get along with you ever met," Hulsey commented.

"Jesse Owens ran against one horse down in Cuba last year," joked one official, "but it looks as if we've drawn a carload of horse-flesh to compete against."

Long Beach expects a capacity crowd at its annual relays March 5 despite the fact the date conflicts with the running of the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap at Arcadia.

It's a tough break for the fans who annually have been seeing boxing events, but no other date was suitable for the relays, it seems.

Long Beach anticipates an entry list of 1000 college, junior college, high school and unattached athletes. To date, 800 entries already have been received.

The C. I. F. basketball scoring record for an individual this year belongs to Gene Burson, Banning's crack center who caged 43 points in defeating Beaumont, 63-7, to clinch the Riverside County league championship Thursday night.

Seabiscuit out of San Carlos. LOS ANGELES. (P)—The anticipated meeting of Seabiscuit and Pompoon in the $5000 San Carlos handicap today was swept by the boards by a heavy rain last night which left the Santa Anita track in a muddy condition.

Co-favorite with Pompoon in the Santa Anita $100,000 handicap March 5, Seabiscuit was scratched this morning after his handlers took one look at the racing strip. Pompoon will run.

Adamick Decisions Thomas on Left Hooks

FIGHT WITH LOUIS STILL HANGING FIRE

NEW YORK. (P)—A year from now, if he doesn't happen to have an accident like fighting Joe Louis or Max Schmeling in the meantime, young Jimmy Adamick is likely to be a very potent factor in the heavyweight ranks.

The local fight fraternity, which was more than a little skeptical of the Detroit boy, passed that verdict after watching him beat tough Harry Thomas by a fair margin in his eastern bow last night at the Garden.

Jimmy wasn't, of course, the monster he had been pictured by his well-known sponsor, Jack Kearns. That was more than anybody expected. But he proved himself a good, tough scrapper, with a better than average left hook and plenty of heart.

Anyway, it turned out later in the dressing room that Kearns had been grievously misunderstood when he said Adamick was a "better prospect than Jack Dempsey."

"Now wait," he said. "Did you see Dempsey when he fought Willie Meacham? That's the Dempsey I was talking about. Jimmie's that good, if not better."

The decision of the three officials was unanimously in favor of Adamick.

The other day's announcement that the winner would fight Louis in April must have been strictly a come-on, because Kearns was extremely vague about it today.

"Nothing's been signed," said the wily doctor. "Sure, we might fight Louis, but he hasn't beat this Nathan Mann yet. We'll fight whomever looks best."

Seals Acquire Several New Faces for '38. SAN FRANCISCO. (P)—Mark down the San Francisco Seals as bustling contenders for the 1938 Pacific Coast league baseball pennant.

They finished second in the regular season last year after most observers had predicted a second division berth at best. This year Manager Frank (Lefty) O'Doul will have an improved club.

Fitching good last year, should be tighter. Joining holdovers, Sam Gibson, Bill Shores, Win Ballo, Bob Cole and Eddie Stutz, will be Lou Koupal from the St. Louis Browns; Vic Frazier, ex-big leaguer acquired from Memphis, and Johnny Welch, from St. Paul.

Brightest of the young prospects is Oscar Miller, a left-hander who won 24 and lost 4 for Yakima of the Western International league in 1937. Other young hopefuls include Southpaw Larry Powell, from Tucson of the Arizona-Texas circuit; Ray Medeghini, right-hander from Tucson, and Gordon Mann, who compiled a good record with Marion, in the Ohio State league.

Workhorse Joe Sprinz, former Seal acquired from last year's Mission club, now Hollywood, should bolster the catching department noticeably.

Improvement in the infield is forecast. Harley Boss, now holding out, will be back at first base or be out of baseball, say his bosses (no pun). Al Wright has second base sewed up. Veteran Hal Rhyne and Ted Jennings, who managed to fill the shortstop gap between last season, may be beat out by Young Bill Lillard, recalled from Tucson. Lillard hit 327 in 114 games.

Third Baseman Frankie Hawkins may be returned by the Yankees. If so, Jack Warner, purchased from St. Paul and dissatisfied with contract terms, will be sold or traded.

Regular outfielders Ted Norbert, Brooks Miller, and Dominic Di Maggio, promising younger brothers of Joe, return. Five new comers, including George Mandish and Tom Ewart, from Tucson, will scramble for a job, utility or regular.

Shortstop Bill Jurgens signs. CHICAGO. (P)—All Charlie Grimm asks now for the sign-ambulance driver forget about Chicago's Cubs.

As soon as he learned that the club's contract complications had been straightened out by the signing of Shortstop Bill Jurgens, the jovial manager almost—but not quite—gave away to pure optimism. With all hands signed and sound of wind and limb, he opined the Cubs' 1938 outlook was "great."

He admitted, however, that he couldn't forget the staggering number of ambulance journeys his men took last season—trips which he believes kept the Cubs from setting up a big enough lead early in the campaign to withstand later misfortunes. Injuries deprived the Cubs of Pitchers Tex Carleton, Bill Lee, Curt Davis and Larry French, Catchers Gabby Hartnett and Ken O'Dea, first Baseman Jim Collins, and Jurgens, for long periods.

Gordon Raring to Go With Yankees

GORDON TASK DIFFICULT WITH YANKS

BY TOM PAPROCKI

The full glare of the spotlight will turn on Rookie Joe Gordon when the former Newark star covers second base for the New York Yankees. Joe is the No. 1 rookie of the Eastern League because he is assured Joe Vitt says Gordon is moving up into the big show to attempt to replace the redoubtable Tony Lazzeri.

If one can believe all the nice things Oscar Vitt, Gordon's manager in Newark, has to say about his ability, a regular Yankee berth is assured. Joe Vitt says Gordon is destined to rank among the greatest second basemen the game has produced.

It is conceded Gordon showed a big-league brand of fielding while helping Newark win the International league pennant, but he did not turn up the circuit with his batting. He hit only 280. He did, however, show considerable batting improvement as the 1937 season wore on and it is quite possible he will be able to match his 280 average against American league pitching. That mark, plus the brand of fielding he is capable of producing would be enough to make him a valuable addition to the Yankees.

No one expects him to step in and engineer plays in the Lazzeri fashion. Tony was one of the smartest ball players of the present generation. But Tony had slowed down noticeably and the speed of young Gordon is likely to offset his lack of experience. Gordon led the league's second basemen in setting up double plays last season, taking part in 111 double killings.

Manager Joe McCarthy of the Yankees feels fairly certain that Gordon will fill the bill. Marjose had an opportunity to look at Gordon over in the Yankees' camp last spring and was impressed with the youngster's fielding. McCarthy believes that the rookie's hitting will improve since he has a natural, easy style at the plate and plenty of power.

Expecting Gordon to come through is a gamble, McCarthy admits, but he doesn't seem to be greatly worried about his second base problem.

Whittier Poets Capture Lead. WHITTIER. (P)—Whittier college found itself at the top of the Southern California conference basketball standings today.

The Posts overwhelmed La Verne college, 81 to 49, in a game here last night, leading through-out the game.

The leading conference scorer, Lee Woodward, Whittier forward, was high point man with 19.

The in-and-out Redlands Bulldogs upset Occidental, 27 to 18. The half-time score was nine-all.

Polo Match Set. LOS ANGELES. (P)—If the weather doesn't force another postponement, the old Westbury polo team from Long Island, New York, will ride against the purple clad aggregation of Midway country club here tomorrow.

Pepped-Up Connie Mack Starts 55th Year in Baseball

PHILADELPHIA. (P)—Connie Mack was all "pepped up" today.

The lean leader of the Philadelphia Athletics, who at 75 is starting his 55th season in baseball, led a group of battery men as they entrained for Lake Charles, La., to open spring training.

"Yes, sir, I feel all pepped up," Connie said previous to retiring for his last night in Philadelphia for several months.

"I'm going to take it rather easy in camp at first," he continued in an enthusiastic tone of voice. "You know I had a little setback after the Philadelphia sports writers' dinner last month, but I've been making great strides lately."

Don Ruggeri Lose, 11-0. Rain . . . poor lighting system . . . a 131-mile trip.

These factors helped lead to the downfall of Coach Ernest Butterworth's Santa Ana minnow rugger, who lost to the state collegians at Santa Barbara last night, 11-0.

The Dons tied the same club, 3-3, at the Municipal bowl several days ago, which indicates that playing conditions had been good. The game was a hard-fought battle, but the Dons' defense was too strong for the visitors.

Carl Benson, Bob Paul, Bob Pannell and Carl Apperly were among the standouts for Santa Ana, which held the Gauchos on even terms during the final half of the game.

The lighting system was so poor that the players hardly were visible from the sidelines.

All the scoring was in the first half. After four minutes play, Santa Barbara carried the ball up-field on a rush and scrummed across the line, where Marvin Palmer fell on it for a try. Older-shaw missed the conversion. Five minutes later, Howard Yeager, Little All-American of regular football, tore loose with a 50-yard run, to score a second try. Older-shaw converted this one. Older-shaw made the final score on a penalty kick, which was good.

INFIELD ONLY PROBLEM OF L. A. ANGELS

(This is one of a series dealing with 1938 prospects of Pacific Coast league baseball teams.)

By RUSS NEWLAND. SAN FRANCISCO. — Los Angeles, a disappointment to home town fans last year, shapes up for the 1938 Pacific Coast league baseball race as a team promising sound pitching, reliable catching and a first class out-field. The infield is another story.

Harrison (Truck) Hannah, who managed the Angels to a fifth place berth in 1937, confidently expects better results from this year's reorganized club.

Capable pitching staff should be developed from the 16 curvers on the list. Such stalwarts as Ray Thomas, Ray Prim, John Salverson and Joe Berry will be back.

Dependable new moundsmen are Gene Lillard, reconstructed third baseman who won 14 games for San Francisco last season, and Sig Jakucki, a big right-hander from New Orleans.

Other job-seekers include Ed Carnett, southpaw, and Clyde Lah-ti, both recalled from Tulsa.

Of four catchers reporting "Rip" Collins is slated for first string work again.

"Rip" Russell, who failed to impress at first base last season, will deliver early, or else. Jack Sanford, second baseman, and Eddie Chocki, shortstop, report from Birmingham. Sanford's 275 batting average wasn't much but he is said to be tough in the pinches. Chocki hit .305. Bill Williams, first baseman who won 14 games for San Francisco last season, and Sig Jakucki, a big right-hander from New Orleans.

Plenty of outfield material will be on hand. Arnold Stutz, Marvin Gudat and Bob Margrave, holdovers, will compete with Johnny Moore, veteran major leaguer purchased from the Phillies; Milton Galatzar from New Orleans; Paul Carpenter, bought from the New York Giants, Mike Christoff, a New York-Pennsylvania league graduate, and Louis Movikoff from Ponca City.

Either Gudat or Galatzar may wind up at first base.

RIVERSIDE IN DOUBLE WIN OVER SAINTS

Upset in the first round several days ago, Riverside Poly turned the tables on Santa Ana High school by taking a double victory in Citrus Belt league basketball at Riverside last night.

With a third-quarter spree which netted nine points while Joe Koegler's visitors went scoreless, Riverside won the varsity game, 25 to 18.

The Bearlets outpointed Santa Ana's sophomores, 33 to 26, in the curtain-raiser, although the Saints flashed a well-rounded attack with Sorenson caging eight points, Ross Barnes six, Ralph Shallenberger five and Ralph Barnes four.

Pete Partida was the big noise of the Santa Ana varsity with eight points. The Saints led at the end of the first quarter, 8-7, but Riverside was out in front at half-time, 16-14. It was 25-14 at the three-quarters mark.

San Bernardino High defeated Chaffey, 25-18, in another league game.

The Saints close their league season in home games with Pomona here next Friday night and San Bernardino here March 4.

Stanford Nips Bears, 41-39; Trojans Score. SAN FRANCISCO. (P)—Stanford and California were tied today for lead of the southern division of the Pacific Coast conference, and it appeared the final basketball game between them two weeks hence might decide the issue.

The Stanford Indians, conference champions the last two years, overcame a 39 to 22 California lead in a furious scoring spree in the final five minutes at Palo Alto last night for a spine-tingling 41 to 39 triumph. Angelo (Hank) Luisset scored 13 points for the Indians.

The Bruins were overwhelmed last night by the University of Southern California Trojans, 52 to 33.

The Bruins have yet to win a conference game.

S. A. GOLFERS AT CORONADO

Launching a double-round schedule that will carry them through March 27, Santa Ana Country club's golfers invade Coronado tomorrow for an opening match in Group 1 of the Southern California Golf association.

Dr. Garland C. Ross, team captain, has announced a 14-man team, as follows: No. 1—Jack Robertson and Dick Ewert. No. 2—W. W. (Bill) Foote and Eddie Holmes. No. 3—Harold Wright and Fay Hochstrasser. No. 4—Homer Robinson and A. W. Robinson. No. 5—Lawrence Coffing and Lawrence Bemis. No. 6—J. K. McDonald and E. H. Guthrie. No. 7—Ben Manker and F. E. Farnsworth.

The schedule: Feb. 20—Santa Ana at Coronado. Feb. 27—Rancho Santa Fe at Santa Ana. March 6—Santa Ana at Rancho Santa Fe. March 13—Santa Ana at San Diego. March 20—San Diego at Santa Ana. March 27—Coronado at Santa Ana.

Vines Would Like Walker Cup South. NEW ORLEANS. (P)—Ellsworth Vines, the tennis professional who would skip two meals for a game of golf, has his heart set on a United States Walker Cup golf team berth.

Once a Davis cup hero and American tennis singles champion, Vines, an entrant in the $5000 Crescent City open golf tournament, confessed he would "give almost anything to be on that Walker Cup team someday."

"Why, I eat and sleep golf," said Vines. "It's got me."

Orange Bows in Unique Playoff

Survivors of one of the most unusual games in C. I. F. basketball history, Ralph (Bill) Cole's Tustin Tilters today were mapping plans for their second-round playoff game with Montebello's champions of the San Gabriel league March 4. Tustin, Orange league champions, trimmed Orange's Sunset league champions by a believe-it-or-not score of 10-8 before 1200 thrilled-soaked fans at Tustin last night.

The score was 3 to 1 in favor of Tustin at the half, and there wasn't a point made during the first seven minutes of action! Yet it was one of the most bitterly-fought and interesting cage struggles of the season!

Larry Monroe, all-league guard from Tustin's 1937 Southern California champions, caged a long field goal in the last 30 seconds of play to destroy Orange's 8-7 lead, and with the count at 9-8 in Tustin's favor, Center Everett Winkler tossed in a free throw to sew up the game, 10-8.

Only one point was scored in the first quarter—a charity toss by Bob Schildmeyer, Orange center, after seven minutes of nip-and-tuck play!

Vic Linker, Tustin forward, evened the count at the start of the second quarter 1-1, but Orange went into the lead when Schildmeyer sank a difficult one-handed shot from the side, 3 to 1, as the half ended.

Wait Linker, Vic's brother who was removed from the game on personals in the second half, sank two free throws at different intervals of the third quarter to deadlock the score 3-3, and Orange again took the lead when Dick Gunther plunked in a short one, 5-3.

Monroe of the Tilters reached one from near the foul line to square it again, 5-5, and followed with another field goal, 7-5. Ray Amling, Orange guard, caged a free throw, ending the third-quarter scoring in Tustin's favor, 7-6.

The fans went wild when Schildmeyer dropped in two free throws to give Orange the lead again, 8 to 7, at the start of the final period. Henry Martinez broke loose and dribbled the length of the floor only to miss a set-up, and Gunther missed a foul shot to prevent Orange from gaining a more substantial lead on the Tilters.

With the game drawing to a close, Monroe attempted a high-arch shot that found the ring from mid-floor to shove the Tilters into the lead, 9 to 8. Then came Winkler's foul shot to take the heart out of Orange, 10-8. The Panthers had time only to work the ball under the Tustin basket as the gun sounded.

The flawless guarding of Harold Lilley, transfer from San Juan Capistrano, was a contributing factor in the victory by Tustin, which made up in speed and clever ball-handling what the club lacked in height.

Orange played a brilliant game, and was on even terms with the Tilters most of the evening.

Tustin will play Montebello, San Gabriel league champions, March 4 in the second round of the C. I. F. playoffs.

SHARPSHOOTING SANTA ANITA

By FRANK FISKE

Here it is "sucker Saturday" again, with the touts tittering and tottering in and out of the betting ring and the air so full of vague rumors about this horse and that one that it looks foggy. Ideal time to toss away your form charts, lists of selections and what-have-you, and toss two dollars into each race hap-hazard. You can't though, discourage those operatives of mine and both the Phantom and Deep Sea Danny popped up with their usual sales talk today. ROBERT TAYLOR PICTURE HERE

Jones Family on Broadway Program

One of the season's finest photoplays, "A Yank at Oxford," starring Robert Taylor and with American and British favorites such as Lionel Barrymore, Maureen O'Sullivan, Vivien Leigh, Edmund Gwenn and Griffith Jones in prominent supporting roles, now is showing at the Broadway theater after a successful opening yesterday. The picture will close Wednesday.

The story, as the title indicates, relates the adventures of the star athlete of a small American college who is awarded a scholarship to Oxford in England. Maureen O'Sullivan is seen as the English girl. Griffith Jones plays her brother.

Vivian Leigh plays the flirtatious wife of an Oxford bookseller. Lionel Barrymore is the American father who has made many sacrifices to send his boy to Oxford. The picture's Oxford sequences were filmed against authentic backgrounds in England.

Of equal interest in the second attraction on the program, "Love on a Budget," newest and most entertaining of the famous Jones family series featuring Jed Prouty, Shirley Deane, Spring Byington, Russell Gleason, Kenneth Howell, George Ernst, June Carlson, Florence Roberts, Billy Mahan, Alan Dinehart, Dixie Dunbar, Marvin Stephens, Paul Harvey and Joyce Compton.

Hollywood Sights and Sounds

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD.—The set of "Bluebeard's Eighth Wife" was tight-closed against visitors the other day. Reason: Miss Claudette Colbert, enacting a sequence in a bathing suit, insisted on privacy.

There are virtually as many reasons for "closed sets" as there are stars who demand them. Best publicized is Garbo's, the Swedish lady's shyness. Any star who makes a habit of excluding observers is forthwith labeled as "pulling a Garbo."

Katharine Hepburn, for some time now, has been "pulling a Garbo." Although she came from the stage, where players are supposed to like audiences, Katie will have none of them in the sound cages. In mitigation, it may be remembered that most of her stage shows were flops, not calculated to build confidence.

KAY SHIES.—Kay Francis shies from strangers, sometimes bars friends to avoid the former. In "A Tale of Two Cities," certainly an unassuming fellow, asks privacy when he gets fussed and bothered with his work, which is intricate enough at best. Edward G. Robinson, usually expansive, likes to "die" unobserved. Carole Lombard lately, in avoiding most women reporters, chats freely with men. Mae West, with a few exceptions, likewise shuns the feminine pen.

LILY IS FRIENDLY.—Lily Pons is expected to be temperamental not live up to the name. Grace Moore comes closest, although she's never been anything but gracious when I've been around. It's after the observer leaves that Grace speaks her mind, if it so happens she didn't want visitors that day. Lily Pons is as friendly as a child, and it's not an act. Where Gladys Swartout is concerned the whole world would watch her work—and welcome.

A church is being built in Southwick, England, to the memory of mothers.

"Jungle Menace," Chapter 9

'A Yank at Oxford'

Stars in 'Everybody Sing'

Allan Jones and Fanny Brice are shown above in a scene from the swing musical comedy, "Everybody Sing," now showing at the West Coast theater with a cast including Judy Garland, Reginald Owen and Billie Burke. The second attraction is "Cassidy of Bar 20," latest of the famous Hopalong Cassidy western action dramas starring William Boyd.

Mary Hampton's Column

LETTER FROM A WISE WOMAN

"Dear Mary Hampton: I have been following your style column with keen interest, especially the past two months, since my physician's kindly advice to me has been, 'make yourself more alluring,'" writes Mrs. P.—and I do think she has a wise and human doctor! For I have been thinking for years that many a thwarted instinct and suppressed desire would be released were women taught that looking charming was their duty and natural life—instead of any of those other ideas that unimaginative, possessive and jealous husbands clamp down upon "their women." She writes on—

"I have given my time and strength (although gladly) to my family, a son of 16 and a daughter of 13 years, and lately have come to realize that in a few years' time they will be grown and I shall be left a lonely, unattractive woman 'sorry for myself.' Therefore to a fresh start and a few activities outside of the home! And what peeps one up as much as a change in the clothes they are wearing!" Now for the plans—and how interesting this is! The greatest satisfaction and fun will come through first accomplishing one complete, stimulating and perfect ensemble! When that is achieved—

How would this be? Of course, I am going to pounce upon stimulating color at once! There will be a tailored wool suit—for your figure is good, and clothes which reveal the figure make one feel light on their feet and gay in spirit! And it is going to be spring's new dark crushed strawberry! This is thoroughly becoming to a sallow skin with good make-up—and yet not dreadfully

Scald the coffee pot daily after it has been washed and every week soak it well in strong washing powder and hot water solution, and then rinse in quantities of boiling water. Invert to dry or wipe out carefully with a soft cloth.

MUSIC-COMEDY, WESTERN, HERE

Old-time vaudeville makes its comeback in "Everybody Sing," now showing at the West Coast theater with a second attraction, "Cassidy of Bar 20," one of the popular Hopalong Cassidy western action dramas, according to Manager George King.

Twelve famous teams of the two-day vaudeville era are featured in one of the comedy sequences of "Everybody Sing," a new production with Alan Jones and Judy Garland, both famous singers, Fanny Brice, Reginald Owen, Billie Burke, Reginald Gardiner and Lynn Carver in the cast.

The story concerns a versatile family composed of a playwright father and an actress mother.

Nine musical sequences are featured. The story is laid in New York.

Hopalong Cassidy's past, in the person of Nora Lane, returns to hurl him into breathless adventure in Clarence E. Mulford's latest outdoor action story, "Cassidy of Bar 20." When New Mexico's king of cattle-rustlers, Robert Fiske, goes so far as to try to make off with the property of Miss Lane, Hopalong's old sweetheart, the Bar 20 boys go into action. William Boyd is assisted by Russell Hayden, Frank Darien, John Elliott and Margaret Marquis.

CHARITY
(From a Black Sheep's Pen)

There once was a fool—but he knew how to "stool;" And his hobby was tackling "rackets."

Keen minded at tending to what needed "mending," His "facts" came done up in big "packets."

With nothing to lose, he would flatly refuse To obey the commands and the (wishes)

Of "hired" scholars—who thought a few dollars— Would keep him from catching big "fishes."

Now this is a tale of a guy with no "kai,"

A fool who would slave like a "mucker," He knocked 'em and blocked 'em, and, one day he shocked 'em— By proving he wasn't a "sucker."

He wrote them a note and they "jumped down his throat," Then he sent an "air mail" to the "president."

They wrote him a letter: And said they'd do better. And—a "visitor" went to his resident.

There's nothing to fear, yet some may think it queer, That he'd scribble long jingles: Just "hokey."

Of insinuations (with some variations) On matters that seemed rather "screwy."

They called him a "sap" when he shot off his "trap," (He made some wise crack about a chair, at ease)

And then, can you beat it, the fool, to complete it, Hired out to investigate charities. CHARLES A. PEDDICORD.

THE SONG OF THE ROSE
Into the world from the gods I bled.

With color and perfume all aglow, I bring light to the dreary places, And smiles to the saddest faces.

Each morn the sunbeams kiss me, After a night of gentle dew, But soon roaming lovers will miss me, Without me no heart beats true.

I am the child of eternal Spring, And bewitch the maiden's heart, I dwell with birds that ever sing, And grant all lovers the gentle art.

Though I fade, my life was not in vain, I only sleep and dream a while, I bloom each Spring on lovers' lane, And I teach the world how to smile.

GUSTAVE HASSEL

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY
Heaven is the fulfillment of our fondest desire, And Hell is a tormented Soul afire, Love is the foundation of eternal youth, And when blended with the golden truth, Will make each heart reach the goal, And be a beacon light to mind and soul.

The sun will shine, amidst the shower, But many a bud and heart will never flower, A lad will smile at a blushing maid, And dream of sweet tomorrow, But midst the roses thorns are laid, That might bring tears and sorrow.

Some people worry, sigh and fret, Others, simple, go forth and have the great, We sow and cultivate and reap, But wise is he who looks before he leap.

The world will give to each, what he has earned, But many a man will only wish and yearn.

The world is like the ocean's flow and ebb, Faith spins around us her magic web.

BURNS, ALLEN AT WALKER'S

Sparkling with catchy Gershwin tunes and with one of P. G. Wodehouse's most hilarious stories of English social life as its basis, RKO Radio's new "Damsel in Distress" will be one of the features Sun, Mon, Tues, and Wed., on the screen at Walker's theater.

Three of Hollywood's brilliant stars are in this film. Fred Astaire and the team of Burns and Allen. Joan Fontaine heads the featured cast in the title role.

The production sparkles from start to finish with a romantic story, a group of spectacular dances and tunes.

It's "Checkers" Jane Withers now!

The girl who has just been voted one of the six most popular stars of the day wears the proudest racing silks on the track in "Checkers," the second feature on the screen at Walker's.

Stuart Erwin and Una Merkel are featured in romantic roles in the film, and Marvin Stephens, the bad boy of "Borrowing Trouble," plays Jane's first screen "crush."

"Lyn" Mouse, a colored cartoon and a newsreel complete the program at Walker's.

Veterinarians of Kansas State college have discovered that a cat's purring does not come from the larynx and may be a vibration of the soft palate.

Burns, Allen at Walker's

That hilarious pair of funsters, Burns and Allen, are co-starred in "Damsel in Distress" on the screen at Walker's Theater, opening tomorrow and continuing through Wednesday.

"Bad Guy" Bow at State

Edward Norris, Virginia Grey and Bruce Cabot are featured in the new offering at the State theater beginning tomorrow and running through Tuesday.

Mary Stoddard

Cooperation in Building Home Is Vital Need, Advises This Married Woman

A married woman comes to the fore today to offer a little advice to "Mr. Twenty-five," who is faced with the problem of wanting a wife and home but unable to manage the financial details of such a move. Perhaps the instance that she cites for him will give courage to many others in the same fix. Dear Miss Stoddard: May a married woman, with some 15 years of wrestling with the problem Mr. Twenty-five presents, have a word to say?

Gosh, how I'd like to meet the man! At last it seems there are some men working up to the fact that there is no such thing as men's work and women's work any more. If a man will do his share of the work about a home, and do it as well as a woman will, then a woman may have the mental and physical ability to hold a job outside the home. But he must remember that to her home cannot come first, her employer will expect her to put her job first.

Same as he expects of a man. And often there comes the choice of putting her efforts into her job and giving her home (including her partner, in the making of that home) what is left of her mental and physical strength, or of putting home first and maybe losing the job because she hasn't the physical and mental strength to put into it.

Methods Mr. Twenty-five is not acquainted with the amount of labor, both mental and physical, a home takes. Believe me, it's a man-size job requiring patience, skill, foresight and training. Let him not think himself capable of doing his share about a home unless he knows whereof he speaks. I know what I'm talking about, for I not only know home-making, but I have done farm work, taught school and many other kinds of men's work.

Most men prattle about helping with the home work. Mostly they skirt around the edge of the job and think they are wonderful guys. How many times I've had to do the job over after they have considered it done!

I might tell Mr. Twenty-five how one young couple I know solved the problem of a family and job. They both had jobs. They married and bought a piece of land and a car (on the installment plan). He lost his job, she continued. He put his time into the place they had bought. The arrival of the baby made it necessary to rely on parents for a time, but she soon returned to her work and he cares for the baby and keeps up the home.

I say "hats off" to young people with that courage and adaptability to face life, not as they'd like to, but as circumstances will let them. I don't feel sorry for that baby. I say they should have the rest of the family they desire. Young folks like them will find a way to care for them adequately. They might not have as much of material goods as some other children, but they will learn sturdy, self-reliance, adaptability, and courage to face life as they find it. Given that, they will make out and be better citizens than many pampered youngsters with a silver spoon in their mouth.

When there's a will there's a way! Believe me, marriage is a business partnership as well as a romance. And romance doesn't survive long if the business of home-making gets out of joint.

As a parting shot, let me remind Mr. Twenty-five that a woman has about two-thirds of the physical strength per pound that man has, she bears the burden of

STATE SHOWS 'BAD GUY' FILM

Visitors were barred from the "Bad Guy" set at MGM studio where a quarter-million volts of electricity were tossed about like a cook turning eggs. "Bad Guy" will appear on the screen at the State theater, Sun, Mon., and Tues.

Featured players in the production are Bruce Cabot, Virginia Grey, Edward Norris, Jean Chardard, Cliff Edwards and other stars. It's a drama of a good guy gone wrong.

Mary Carlisle and Lew Ayres play the romantic leads in "Hold 'Em Navy," the second feature of the State bill. Other players include Benny Baker, Elizabeth Patterson and John Howard.

Howard and Ayers portray an napolis gridiron stars in the film. Miss Carlisle plays the proprietress of an off-campus sweet shop where misadventures gather. Miss Patterson will be seen as Miss Carlisle's young-minded grandmother, and Baker takes the leading comedy role.

CHINA LECTURE SERIES OPENS

How is the war in China affecting the United States?

Persons attending the evening high school forums starting Feb. 28 will receive the answer to this question, as Dr. Claude A. Buss of the University of Southern California will begin a series of four talks at that time on the Far-Eastern situation.

The program is free to the public, being one of the features of the adult education division of the local school system. They are conducted at the Spurgeon school auditorium beginning at 7:30 p. m.

MATHER TO BE FORUM SPEAKER

"Is the United States headed for dictatorship?"

W. W. Mather of Chaffey Junior college will discuss this question next Monday evening in the last of a series of three talks he will present before persons attending the evening high school forum at Spurgeon school, 210 West Cubbon. The program will begin at 7:30 o'clock. As this is an adult education feature, it is free to the public.

Mather is a recognized student of international affairs, particularly those problems relating to government. He is a member of the California bar and the author of a textbook on California government.

He has been for a number of years head of the social science department of Chaffey Junior college.

FATHER OF BOXING

Jack Broughton, who held the world's championship longer than any other man, is considered the "Father of Boxing." Broughton won the championship in 1734, and emerged the victor in all other bouts up to 1750. Prior to Broughton's reign, there were no rules covering boxing, other than those laid down by James Figg, the first English champion. Figg insisted on the contestants battling without rest, until a definite winner was established. In 1743, Broughton introduced the London Prize Ring Rules. Under these regulations, a round ended when a fighter was thrown, knocked, or fell to the ground, being allowed 30 seconds to recover. For over 100 years, Broughton's precepts were accepted, being finally supplanted by the Marquis of Queensbury Rules. SOFT IRON DEVELOPED BERLIN—Lead may be in large part replaced by a plastic iron that is just as soft and pliable, according to Dr. Hans Vogt, the physicist, who has invented the new metal. It is lighter and cheaper to produce.

A Thing of Beauty—

Santa Ana has never claimed to be a center of art, but it does look like the city is passing up a bet in neglecting the federal art program.

There's no reason why some of the better local public buildings shouldn't be benefited by the work of federal artists who are doing such a good job for other Orange county communities.

This type of painting and mosaics can be seen to advantage at Newport Harbor High school, Anaheim Public library, John C. Fremont school in Anaheim and Fullerton Junior college. In this connection, it is interesting to note that two young Santa Ana artists, Arthur Ames and Jean Goodwin, have done a large part of the work.

Only cost to local authorities is for the material used, as we understand the offer. The federal government pays for the rest.

In the two mosaics at Newport Harbor High school the material cost about $100. The completed job is valued at $4000, commercially, according to the basis on which private firms contract for that type of work. Not a bad buy.

Here in Santa Ana, the high school, city hall and Bowers Memorial museum provide admirable spots for a mural painting or mosaic.

A lot of federal money is now pouring into this city for ditch digging, rodent eradication and dressmaking.

Some of it might be better spent creating beautiful works of art for the embellishment of the community and the inspiration of those who enjoy things cultural.

Maybe the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce can persuade that whale in San Francisco bay to visit here for a while and bring us a little national publicity.

Not Worth the Noise

It's a long time until the Fourth of July, but a safety campaign which has just been started by the fire chiefs of the county may save some kid from getting his hand blown off.

The fire fighters are alarmed over the peril which new type flashcrackers and other high explosives have created for little Johnny and Mary.

Metallic flash powders, dynamite and TNT, even in small quantities, are just as dangerous as they are noisy, and the injury list since they have come in proves it.

We wouldn't want to spoil any youngster's fun, but a mangled hand or a blasted eye are life-long liabilities and offset all the sport that could be obtained from shooting flashcrackers from now until 1999.

There are enough reasonably safe and sane kinds of fireworks to use in celebrating the Fourth with the proper patriotic and national fervor.

Here's our hope that Chief Frank Crocker of Newport Beach gets the cooperation of the League of Municipalities next week when he asks that body to help fight against sale of dangerous high explosives under the guise of harmless fireworks.

The sheriff and his deputies may soon don uniforms, we hear. Logan should be able to buy himself a diamond-studded one with those fat fees.

Make a Date for Military Ball

February is an important month in Orange county, not only because of Washington's and Lincoln's birthdays, but also because of another major patriotic event—the Annual Military Ball.

The ball will take place for the 10th successive year next Monday night at the Valencia ballroom on Highway 101, just north of Santa Ana.

The dollar admissions go to a fund for disabled veterans and their families in the county. Recently this need has grown greater because more and more vets are falling into the unemployable group as the result of their disabilities becoming more acute, according to Harry S. Pickard, chairman for the dance committee and past commander for the Jack Fisher chapter, Disabled American Veterans, sponsor of the event.

On the program are an excellent dance band, several headline entertainers and a popular glee club.

Those who attend the party will benefit twice—once through aiding the disabled veterans and again by having a grand time. Make a date for the ball.

Maybe Newport Harbor can get that Whale in San Francisco bay to come down here for a while and bring us a little national publicity.

A U.S. Merchant Marine

Orange county is close enough to Los Angeles harbor to feel the effects of shipping layoffs and inactivity, so it should be welcome news that the Pacific coast has won the first part of its fight in Washington to subsidize operation of a fast merchant marine in intercoastal trade.

The house merchant marine committee, in approving a subsidy of from $1 to $2 per displacement ton of vessels of 16½ knots speed and over operating between the West and East coasts, through the Panama canal, has taken a step of benefit to this whole area.

Much freight, including citrus, comes and goes through the big near-by port. If it is forced to travel in foreign bottoms, in case of war and the sudden withdrawal of foreign ships, the port would be paralyzed.

If the representatives back in Washington get a true picture of the inadequate shipping situation, there should be no delay about the right thing to do.

Mr. Tunney
And the Rum
Situation

By

GALESBURG, Ill.—As chairman of the board of the American Distilling Co., a firm whose whisky is doubtless as wholesome and nutritious as any, Mr. Gene Tunney has raised an interesting question. Mr. Tunney's statement of policy on accepting his high office declares that the distiller must keep a closer check on his product between the time it leaves the plant and the time it vanishes into the ultimate consumer, or between the vat and the tank. He says, further, that there should be no disposition on the part of the distiller to encourage the consumption of spirits by the youth of the country either through lack of control or through irresponsible advertising.

Galesburg is a college town, with seven saloons on the town square alone, six of them within a stretch of about one hundred yards and all of them on property which formerly belonged to Knox college. The conveyance by which the land passed into other ownership a long time ago contained a stipulation that it should never be used in any other phase of the industry which Mr. Tunney now adorns with his distinguished name, but owing to the misplacement of a punctuation mark, or some ambiguity of wording, that "verboten" was overcome.

OTHER SALOONS, TOO

Galesburg has other saloons, too, and although there are no really pretty ones to compare with the dream saloons of New York and Chicago, where the dashing young scions and glamorous scionesses of the aristocracy do their drinking, the sight of them is a great joy to those who thought for a long time that the good, old-fashioned saloon and honest, health-building whisky would never come back.

Soiled and more than a trace tawdry though they be, the row of six saloons nestling in an elbow of the town square of Galesburg, lights glowing in the windows on a winter night and their cash registers jangling above the laughter of lady customers dimly visible in the shadowy booths, is a monument to a historic moral victory.

Now comes Mr. Tunney, however, to say in effect that the industry which owes its miraculous revival and its present prosperity to its customers must regulate or ration its whisky and deny it altogether to the youth.

WAS IT FOR THAT?

Was it for this that the valiant knight, including the youth of the flapper era and after, drank the brave fight through the bitter years in bathtub gin and needle beer, in mule and shine and liniment? If a veteran of that long campaign enters a saloon on the Galesburg square tonight with his tongue fixed to lap at a pan of pure, golden whisky, distilled from the honest hearts of grain, will he find there the spirit of Mr. Tunney to examine his drinker's license and punch a hole in this ration card?

And are the youth of Knox college, who seem indifferent to the seven saloons on the old school plot, to be challenged as youth was in the dreadful '20's, and to be kept from the pleasures of getting to obtain Mr. Tunney's whisky as a matter of principle? It seems to me that Mr. Tunney is guilty of great presumption and that the entire industry of which he is now a member has a faulty attitude. After all, the industry is only the custodian of the sacred right of the people who made their own decision as to the good or evil of whisky. The industry is constantly depreciating whisky in its advertisements and giving replacements to scattered and engaged foes who argued that it was harmful to the soul and body of man.

"REACH FOR A BOTTLE"

If I were writing the advertisements for Mr. Tunney's whisky I should demand for my product the same freedom of expression that is permitted for automobiles and groceries and show I should write "whisky makes you feel good and makes you forget your worries" and "home without whisky ain't no home to me" and "reach for a bottle instead of a book."

Certainly I would arrange a direct appeal to the youth of the land, realizing that the youth of today is the manhood and womanhood of tomorrow, and that my old customers, dropping off day by day, require replacements. Should my replacements come up grudgingly unable to take it, or should I prepare them for full customership by encouraging them to drink in their teens? I would arrange with the production department to turn out a young men's and misses' whisky, a little milder than my adult line, and a kiddies' article called whisky-whisk or something like that for little beginners.

What is the matter with these whisky people, anyway? From the way they talk you would think there was something wrong with whisky.

Minister—My man, do you know the course of gambling?
Gashouse Gus—Sure, all of 'em.

MEXICO CITY.—Deposed President Madero was suddenly detained in the capital last night by a mysterious order from General Huerta, provisional president, as he was preparing for the departure of himself and his family to exile. No explanation was given.

Carrying a greeting from Mayor Ely to the mayor and people of Pomona as a stunt in that city's booster day celebration, Glenn L. Martin made a record hop of 30 miles in 22 minutes in his airplane today.

TOKYO.—More than 15,000 people are homeless as a result of fire which swept through the downtown district last night. The fire started in the Salvation Army hall and was rapidly whipped by a high wind, destroying 1300 buildings.

LONDON.—Suffragettes paid another havoc-working visit to the Kew botanical gardens today and fired a large refreshment pavilion which burned to the ground. Two young women were arrested while running away from the scene of the fire. One of them hurled a big law book at the police magistrate who refused to admit them to bail.

Pittman Offers Compromise on Burlew Appointment for Right Nevada Setup

WASHINGTON.—Key Pittman of Nevada may take the Senate floor as a matter of personal privilege to deny this, but it has just leaked out that he offered to compromise his long and bitter fight against the confirmation of E. K. Burlew as Assistant Secretary of the Interior.

To get the full picture of what this means, remember that the Nevada Senator has been waging one of the most vitriolic battles in recent Senate history against a man who has been in government service for 27 years and who enjoys a record for strait-laced efficiency.

Pittman, however, has objected to rounding out Burlew's career

by promotion to one of the key posts in the Interior Department, and for nearly six weeks has sat in the Public Lands Committee subjecting Burlew to the most withering fire.

One suspected reason for Pittman's animus was an old incident involving a bronze plaque on Boulder Dam which listed Burlew as one of those contributing to the birth of the dam, whereas Senator Pittman's name was omitted.

Pittman riled about this last year, made a speech on the Senate floor about it, and actually introduced a Senate resolution demanding that this injustice be rectified.

Peevish as Key Pittman can be at times, it was believed that this could not have been the sole reason for his long-wart attack on Burlew, and now the rest of the story has come out.

Since a large part of Nevada is public domain, the Interior Department has more to do with that State's federal jobs than any other department. And apparently Pittman was worried about Burlew's interference in this.

For, despite the withering fire he leveled at Burlew publicly, the Nevada Senator recently made a discreet private suggestion that he would withdraw his attack on Burlew, after becoming Assistant Secretary of the Interior, was not placed in a position to rule on patronage matters.

The Mailbag

Public opinion, or what somebody in office imagines to be public opinion, is our ruler. If public opinion is active, the politicians and people sit up and take notice. There is a definite need for outspoken talking and thinking on public matters. Honest, intelligent fair discussion of our problems is immensely useful. So that every citizen may have his say and contribute to the formation of public opinion, The Journal invites letters to The Mailbag.

TO THE EDITOR: In your issue of Feb. 7, Carl Edward Fisher, secretary of Santa Ana Typographical Union No. 579, to the extent of a column, refers to a recent discussion of the printers' union label on candidate cards. He says, in part:

"When the International Typographical Union label appears on printing matter it means that the owner of the establishment has a signed contract with some subordinate typographical union to employ competent union printers at a specified scale, working hours and conditions."

"Any printing employers or proprietor can use the union label providing they sign a contract agreeing to employ a union printer, and agree to wages, hours and conditions of the union whose jurisdiction they are in."

Would Mr. Fisher care to make public a list of the printing offices or printers in Orange county who have the right to use the union label?

As the owner of a weekly newspaper which does commercial printing there is a direct financial interest in the matter.

Each election year candidates buy pictures, have cuts and mats made and ask the newspapers to "announce" them in the running. Most of the statements run several inches in length and are printed without charge.

There is little value as "news" in the announcements and it does cost money to set type on a typesetting machine. Then when the weekly publisher might have an opportunity to make a profit by printing a few thousand candidate cards he is confronted by the threat they cannot be used unless the union label appears on them.

During the present campaign there will be question whether the union label or "bug" becomes an asset of a liability, particularly to those candidates who go out in the country to seek the support of ranchers and farmers. It will be one season when a candidate will have to fish or cut bait.

It is generally understood that none of the daily newspapers of Orange county have signed contracts with the I.T.U., though printers have verbal agreements covering wages and hours. Do any weekly newspaper offices have the right to use the union label, should they desire to do so?

And has Mr. Fisher taken the time or trouble to inquire into the number of printing office workers who are employed in Orange county? Men willing to accept any reasonable wage if they can only obtain part time employment. A survey would find there are as many unemployed printers in this county as there are men regularly employed in other organizations working conditions.

This is not to be construed as a complaint against union workmen or organized labor, but there is a possibility that due to the highly organized basis of the large newspapers and shops and the refusal to add additional workmen has forced many printers to open their own small shops, with the result that work is taken on bids. Possibly the recent cut prices received by Orange county through the business agent one supplied might open the eyes of some of the older workmen who sit smugly in their "situations" without thought of younger men in the industry who have a desire to make a living, and propose to obtain it on their own terms.

From our experience in past political campaigns, the candidate, after receiving his "warning" about the "bug" on cards, hunts up a one man shop where the printer-owner says he can put the label, and gives the order. This is, in many instances, tricky because the owner-printer does not pay scale wages or provide employment for many workmen, but is able to provide the "bug" because for many years he has kept up his dues in the I.T.U.

So for this reason a straightforward list of those offices and papers eligible to use the label will be appreciated, so that printing of candidate cards may be given to those who might deserve the business.

General Lewis Cass, the American statesman and general, bore a striking resemblance to a Mr. Guy, Washington hotelkeeper. A newly-elected southern congressman, staying at the hotel, did not like his room, so he went downstairs to complain about it. Meeting Cass on the way, he mistook him for Guy, and gave him a thorough tongue lashing. "Sir," said the general, "you have made a mistake. I am General Cass, of Michigan."

"I beg your pardon," said the congressman, "I mistook you for Guy, who is an old friend of mine. Pray excuse me sir." The general bowed stiffly and went out, but immediately returned and again met the southerner. He, having seen Cass leave the hotel, thought he had his man for sure this time, walked over, slapped him on the back and said: "Say, Guy, I met that stupid old Cass just now and thought it was you, and gave him a lot of abuse about my room." "Young man," said the general, "you've met that stupid old Cass again."

"What's the difference between a fiddler and a violinist?" "A haircut."

This column is one of the last written by Mr. McIntyre before his death.

NEW YORK.—My metropolitan meanderings frequently draw me to those odd pockets of life hanging off-side the well worn paths. Few niches have the exciting jostle and fascinating alien aromas of Chinatown, running off a hip of roaring Chatham Square.

Grooved behind it is the Little Italy of Poppa Moneta's, 65 cent spaghetti and red ink dinners, undertaking parlors lit sickly green, bakery windows with three-foot long loaves and religious ornament shops. And always a wavering accordion note or a flaccid singer. Then those mysterious adhesions such as Patchin Place in The Village area. Tucked neatly away from the busy scene, with a cobblestoned court, spreading alanthus and romantic iron-grilled balconies. A social layer of musicians, artists and writers.

Down by Brooklyn Bridge are scarious patches of hideous squalor, yet somehow interwoven into a close neighborliness. There is a complacent outlook too in these isolations. With remarkable calm, they seem to say: "We are as happy in our world as you in yours."

One of the accomplished argonauts of the sidewalk streets and alcoves in Manhattan was Idwal Jones, now lost to the Hollywood studios. A shy fellow, quite deaf, he prowled among the hidden places and his explorations made wonderful copy. New York is, as much as London, a mass of distinct villages with their simple houses, some of which I've chosen to write about. I'd like to have Irving Berlin show me about Chinatown. George M. Cohan the Broadway between the Circle and Herald Square, Harry Kemp The Village, Bill Robinson Harlem, George Raft Tenth avenue and Maury Paul The Gold Coast.

Jack Dempsey continues to expand in his role of boniface. His newest experimentation is a glittery lounge and cocktail bar on Broadway in the 40's. He will give it a share of his personal attention and try not to neglect his steak palace opposite Madison Square Garden. Dempsey, once at Miami Beach, was fairly beaming with welcoming smiles. He confesses to friends that next to fighting he likes meeting people. He sips a glass of beer now and then and when hard pressed by roysterers professes to down several whiskies in a row. But it's all a gracious ruse. His whiskies are a dark shade of ginger ale, kept handy by his bartenders.

It was a bit of a wrench to read in Variety that Fritz Scheff might sing in one of the big uptown restaurants—although many notable singers have been accepting such engagements. Miss Scheff, however, is associated in public thought with super-triumphs while New York's 400 massed from proscenium to arch. Perhaps the outstanding ovation of a star was that for her after she had rendered "Kiss Me Again" on opening night. And reached its crescendo when Victor Herbert, the composer, led her from the wings for the 16th and final bow.

The grandest ovation I ever beheld in the American theater was and graciously enough, too—for the all-English cast headed by Colin Clive and presenting "Johnny's End" at the Henry Miller. There were too many encores to count and at the final curtain the audience stood and cheered for at least five minutes. They almost refused to leave. I often think of the demonstration when I hear of numbers of excellent American players "getting the bird" in perfidious old Albion.

To my notion, a large chunk of the legitimate theater's lure was lost with the abandonment of the pit orchestra. It was a tingling moment when the little door opened and the musicians wriggled through to their places. And the fiddle scrapings, faint horn tootings and whispered conversations until a wave of the baton coaxed it into melody, cast a spell of expectance seemingly lost forever. I enjoyed seats down front near the full fiddler or the trap drummer. The bull fiddle with his vroom, vroom, vrooming, was a study in utter detachment. But the drummer crouching over his drums, pots, pans and what not was a study in enjoyment at work. In no other vocation does a fellow seem to get so much pleasure out of his job.
